

DRUG TRAFFIC BEAVERS BELIEVES THAT PUBLICITY HAS BEEN PARTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR PRESENT CONDITIONS.

Beavers Also Believes That Publicity Has Been Partly Responsible for Present Conditions.

PLAN TO WAR ON MEN WHO TRAFFIC IN DRUGS

Will Ask Council for Four Substations, Forty Additional Policemen and More Equipment.

To cope with the alarming crime conditions that have struck terror to the heart of residents and night pedestrians of the city, Chief James L. Beavers, in his annual report to the city council this year, will appeal for four police substations, forty new patrolmen and additional equipment.

This and a relentless crusade against the drug traffic are among the most effective steps to remedy a situation that has aroused the entire community. To a reporter for The Constitution last night Chief Beavers accredited 70 per cent of the prevalent crime the rapid spread in the city of cocaine, heroin, morphine and other drugs.

Chief Beavers Publicity.
The newspapers, too, he blamed to no small extent. Publicity given to the drug traffic he claims has encouraged by mental suggestion. The police have worked tirelessly, he said, under the hand of a small force and have caught more criminals this winter than at any other time in the department's history.

The drug traffic has taken such acute form on the lawless element that an organized effort to stamp out the evil, going thereby to eliminate a great degree of the lawlessness that has prevailed for the past few months.

Trained detectives will likely be appointed to an expeditionary force for the purpose of striking at the roots of the drug traffic. Chief Beavers said that he had at the end of cocaine and heroin the greater per cent of all crimes, homicides included.

The sale of drugs to the underworld has even exceeded the traffic in blind bait. The police have been unable to crack the drug traffic generally adopted the use of a small force and have caught more criminals this winter than
at any other time in the department's history.

Wide the lawlessness that prevailed Christmas, which exceeded that of any of the past holidays. Chief Beavers stated that the wide use of drugs has been a major factor in the crime problem. He said that he had at the end of cocaine and heroin the greater per cent of all crimes, homicides included.

LAKEWOOD PARK PLANS PREPARED

Development of Beautiful Spot Will Require Several Years and Will Cost About $1,000,000.

Preliminary plans for the development of Lakewood Park, the site upon which the civic interests of Atlanta propose the establishment of the South-eastern fair, have been prepared by Charles E. Kauffman, designing engineer in the construction department of the city.

To carry out the plans and make Lakewood the most picturesque spot in the south, Engineer Kauffman estimates that it will require several years of work and the expenditure of nearly $1,000,000.

A rough topographical map has already been prepared by Engineer Kauffman. It includes only such features as are usually expected to carry into effect a municipal park plan, and does not provide for such things as the southeastern fair promoters are planning for.

Aquarium Building. One of the most imposing architectural schemes included in the plans comprises the erection of an aquarium building, two massive stone bridges to span the lake, numerous groves and recreation nooks. The plans also provide for structures of the Roman column type at the entrance, which are to be two in number and to be located on Lakewood avenue and at Capitol avenue.

According to estimates which are merely tentative, the cost of the aquarium building alone will be in the neighborhood of $125,000. It is a feature which will vie with the cyclorama at Grant Park, and from an educational standpoint it will, according to Engineer Kauffman, attract thousands to the city each year, and will also be the source of considerable revenue each year.

In drawing the plans, Engineer Kauffman kept in mind the peculiar formation of the entire tract, which comprises Lakewood and as a consequence the various roads and walks which cross the property. He will require little grading and lessen the cost of making the property the most beautiful in the south.

No one feature of the plans conflicts with the natural beauty of the property, and infinite care was taken by the engineer to make the roads and locate his buildings so as harmonize with the plans which are being made by the city, the county and the state, to establish a permanent fair.

Series of Terraces. A series of terraces are provided for to beautify that portion of the property which is the highest.

Engineer Kauffman has been at work on the plans for several months. He has given personal attention to every detail of the plan, and has been assisted by a number of engineers and architects in the development of the park, and the masterpiece of landscape engineering.

As soon as the plans are completed, Engineer Kauffman expects to exhibit them to the various civic groups and the view of having the city state work early.

JEFFERSON TAXES COMING IN SLOWLY

Jackson, Ga., December 25.—(Special.)—Probably never before in the history of Jefferson county have taxpayers been so backward about paying their state and county taxes as they have been this fall. When the books to close, December 26, passed, only one-third of the taxes due had been paid. Tax collector will keep the books open as long as possible for the accommodation of taxpayers, but he has no intention of making any concessions. Having received no returns from the counties, he will not be able to receive taxes until January. There are some fifty thousand dollars state and county taxes on the digest and a large amount of this has not been paid to date.

DONATIONS GIVEN TO HAPEVILLE ORPHANAGE

Barnesville, Ga., December 26.—(Special.)—The Baptist church at Hartsville, Ga., has contributed $100 to the orphanage at Hapeville, Ga., for the support of about 250 orphans and $100 to the orphanage at Hapeville, Ga., for the support of about 250 orphans. The Sunday school of the First Baptist church at Hartsville, Ga., has contributed $100 to the orphanage at Hapeville, Ga., for the support of about 250 orphans.

Diversification of Crops Lower Reality in Georgia Says Commissioner Price

"Judging by the four mills, the packing houses, the grain elevators, the wheat and hay, the cattle and hogs which are taking the place of cotton from the Tennessee line to the sea," a Georgian returning home in the spring of 1915, after a year's absence, might well think he had entered some new era by mistake," said J. D. Price, commissioner of agriculture, Saturday.

Commissioner Price made an example of the progress already made, and, predicting a farm year for 1915, considering the tremendous changes effected, summarized the agricultural situation as it now stands.

"The prosperity or distress of the Georgia farmer, practically every man, woman and child in the state," he said.

Giving Aid to Farmers. "Georgians who realize this are devoting their time and money to the aid of the farmer—and for the aid of themselves and all other Georgians. It is extremely far from being a charitable proposition, for the farmer is not loved any more than any other general class of men. The reason for this is because farmers are distinct from all other men in that they are not to be taken care of by the state. They compose the one class whose interests are every man's interest. They are the backbone of the state."

and said: "The diversification of crops is the only way to save the farmer from the end is reached."

Commissioner Price said that the diversification of crops is the only way to save the farmer from the end is reached. He said that the diversification of crops is the only way to save the farmer from the end is reached.

Results Are Being Secured. "The farmer has been buffeted around in this time of revolution. The opinions and plans of all men, including the farmer, have been first of all so fast that he can't grasp one idea, before another is shot into his head. Many of the old plans, plans, most of them, in fact, are good for nothing more than to be discarded, and the permanent prosperity, due some day, will fall to material."

Grain and Corn Market. At Columbus a market has been established for all corn and grain raised in Muscogee county, and farmers have been urged to raise as much as possible, as they cannot swamp the market. The organizers of the market company have announced they will buy these crops at the market prices of the St. Louis Board of Trade, plus freight charges.

A grain elevator and a shelling machine for corn will also be conducted by this company.

"The view of the numerous new products for which markets must be found, and seriously considering adding a market, and to the agricultural department's force, and in fact how to save such men early in January," said Commissioner Price.

Georgia has such a man and we need one badly at the present time. The duties of the man will be to find markets for all products of Georgia farmers; the farmers of Georgia will write to the department of agriculture their needs and tell them where markets can be had."

344 P. O. Employees Kept Busy Delivering Atlanta's Xmas Mail

Friday, Christmas day, was the greatest in the history of the Atlanta postoffice. Due to the efficiency of the clerks and carriers, and because of the extensive improvements just completed in the office under Postmaster Bolling Jones, the department "cleaned out" the building and was ready to handle the enormous volume of mail.

Thirty wagons and 344 clerks and carriers were kept busy delivering the mail. Not only was there an enormous volume of mail, but the parcel post packages exceeded all expectations. It was estimated that 10,000 packages were handled and carried to the addresses. Another remarkable feature was that the majority of the parcels were delivered to the homes of the poor.

The postoffice was kept busy all day, and the clerks and carriers were kept busy all day. The postoffice was kept busy all day, and the clerks and carriers were kept busy all day.

BOND FOR PROSECUTES ISSUE.

Friends of Civic Improvements Are Ready to Present Bond Ordinance to New Council.

Confident that only concerted action on the part of every member of council and every city official is necessary to make possible the issuance of $2,000,000 in bonds for public improvements, the friends of the bond issue are diligently at work today on plans which will be presented to the 1915 council when it meets on the first Monday in January.

The finance committee of the education board of which Commissioner Dan Green is chairman, is preparing a budget which will include the finance committee of the general council the urgent needs of the school department for the coming year.

A rough estimate of the actual needs of the school department is $700,000. In the above amount is included only operating expenses—teachers' salaries, repairs, equipment and other necessities.

Atlanta's retiring council was united on the subject of bonds, and as a matter of fact it was one of the very first issues of the year on which council was solid.

It is not been for the attitude of Mayor Woodward, council at its last meeting would have adopted the ordinance authorizing the city to hold the election.

Mayor Woodward desired that the election and all the details relating to it be made a function of the year to come, and in order not to incur the expense of a special election, the bond committee decided not to take action at the last meeting and urged that the report and the money raised be referred to the 1915 council with a report to the effect that the council merely recommended to the new the adoption of the bond plan.

The city's retiring council of the old council removed every objection, and it is now expected that Mayor Woodward will give his support to the project and let the voters of Atlanta decide whether the schools, waterworks, sewers, parks and other municipal projects shall be improved with money realized from the sale of bonds, or be allowed to languish until the city is financially ruined by the cost of the current revenue of the city to grow to such an extent as will permit the expenditure of large sums of money each year for new school buildings and other improvements.

Sower-Moremen.

One of the very attractive weddings that came as a surprise to their many friends, was that of Miss Lorena Claire Sower, of Atlanta, and Dr. Charles Watson Moremen, of Florida.

The ceremony was performed Thursday at 4 o'clock by Dr. A. A. Little, and was witnessed only by the immediate family.

The bride, who is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sower, is well known in the music world, and was a recent student of Shorter college. The groom is the eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. U. Moremen, and a promising young dentist.

The bride wore a charming gown of Alice blue chiffon made with an accordion plaited tunic, and carried a bouquet of white rose buds and valley lilies. After the ceremony a delicious supper was served, and showers of rice and congratulations, Dr. and Mrs. Moremen left for their trip south.

They will be at home to friends and relatives after January 10, at 255 East North avenue.

Norris Kendrick.

A wedding of much interest on account of the prominence of contracting parties was that of Miss Lida Norris, of Zebulon, Ga., and Mr. J. W. Kendrick, of Roberts, Ga., on Tuesday evening, December 22, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Norris.

The pretty home was beautifully decorated with southern azaleas and pink and white chrysanthemums. The wedding ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. J. T. Bentley, uncle of the groom.

The bride and groom are both very popular young people, with scores of friends over the state. After the ceremony they left for Roberts, where they will make their home in future.—Zebulon News.

Harrison-Osborne.

Mrs. Mary Patterson Mathis announces the marriage of her niece, Miss Esther Irene Harrison, to Mr. Arthur Elsworth Osborne on Tuesday, December 22, Dr. Daniel, of the First Baptist church, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Osborne will be at home after December 28 in South Attleboro, Mass.

Woman's Club Work.

From the bazaar which the East Point Woman's club held on December 19, 1900 was realized which will be used for a relief fund. A Christmas tree was given yesterday evening, and the proceeds were also sent to the unfortunate. The Home and School club co-operated in the work, the two clubs hoping to make this a happy Christmas for the little ones.

At Oakhurst.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Robertson entertained thirty-five friends and relatives at a delightful Christmas dinner Friday, at their home, at Oakhurst. In the afternoon an informal reception was held and about fifty friends called. The day was one of rare pleasure and hearty good cheer to all. The occasion will be long remembered by those present.

Christmas Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. James Edward McMillan entertained a small party of friends at a beautiful Christmas dinner Friday, at their home on College street, S. E. Point. The home was appropriately decorated in the season's colors.

Guests were Mrs. T. F. Johnson and Miss Ruth Bradley, of Hopkewille, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Whisenhurst.

Literary Meeting.

The Women's Alliance of the Unitarian church will hold their literary meeting on Monday, December 28, at 7 o'clock, with Mrs. Gardner, 363 Whitehall street.

Dr. W. Wade Candler will have charge of the meeting. Every one is expected to come and bring a friend.

Jones-Birchmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Toliver B. Jones, of Carlton, announce the marriage of their daughter, Annie, to Mr. William C. Birchmore, Jr., of Comer, Ga., on Wednesday, December 23, at 4 o'clock, by Rev. J. V. Davis, of Lexington, officiating.

Home for Old Women.

The Home for Old Women is grateful to many for its Christmas cheer. Of the many Christmas celebrations held in Atlanta none was more thoroughly enjoyed by the participants than that held in the Home for Old Women on Christmas day.

A gigantic Christmas tree held some three or four individual gifts for each old lady and these, in addition to the personal offerings from friends which were being received all day made of the occasion a veritable Red Letter day for the ladies.

A pleasant feature of Christmas Eve was the singing of the hymns by the class of the West End Presbyterian church, which was organized by the teacher, Mrs. Maganthee. The little students made pretty offerings of fancy baskets filled with fruit and candies, and these, placed on the Christmas dinner table for decorations.

Little Miss Maganthee, 8 years, played a violin solo for the old ladies and captured all hearts by her charm and talent.

The Christmas dinner was bountiful, there being four fine turkey, vegetable and abundant soups, fruit and a delicious home-made cake, all contributed by the friends of the institution.

Mrs. E. A. Purcell, president of the home, spent the entire day there and she or some one of the other ladies of the Gordon circle, will be hostesses to the public throughout the week, and is hoped many will take this season as a good time to visit the home.

Mrs. John A. Barclay, who is well-known in Atlanta for her own and her late husband's many philanthropies, is an inmate of the home at this time, and she, too, participated in the Christmas celebration. She is just recovering from a serious spell of sickness and is able now to see her many friends.

Kilpatrick-Cannon.

The wedding of Miss Frances Kilpatrick and Mr. Roy Cannon was a pretty event of Thursday evening, December 24, which took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. W. Kilpatrick. The home had beautiful Christmas decorations of holly and mistletoe, blooming poinsettias and roses.

The bride wore a becoming gown of blue cloth trimmed in fur with black velvet hat. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies.

Miss Louise Starnard was maid of honor and wore blue crepe de chine, the corsage of chiffon and lace. She carried pink roses.

Mr. Francis Whitney was best man. Dr. James C. Trimmix officiated.

The bride and groom wore black satin and lace and Mrs. B. F. Hall, who assisted in entertaining, wore black crepe de chine.

Mr. and Mrs. Cannon left for an automobile trip through Florida, and on their return will be at home on Cherokee avenue after February 1.

Open House at Druid Hills Baptist Church.

The Druid Hills Baptist church will keep open house on New Year's afternoon from 2 to 7 o'clock, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. McConnell, who are the hosts of the day. The church is in honor of Dr. J. C. McConnell, who is a member of the church. The friends of the church are most cordially invited to meet and welcome Dr. McConnell, whose return to Georgia is of the keenest interest to the Druid Hills church, to Atlanta and to the state-at-large.

Miss Bruce Entertains.

Miss Ruby Bruce entertained at an elegant and beautiful Christmas dinner on West End avenue.

The guests were Messrs. Brewer, Bryson, Wallace, Owen, Kelley and Messrs. Brown, Harrison, Lippy, Bouche, Davis and Frasier.

Given Job as Cook. "When allowed my parole through the efforts of Mr. Eakes, I was immediately given the job of cook for the camp, and also continued the duties of yard man. The money that I earned was the greatest consideration as I was now able to do something for my scattered family. My wife died with pneumonia in 1908, while I was experiencing hell at the lumber camp at Jenkins. Our two little girls were both sent off to an orphanage home. Mary, now 15 years old, is living with her uncle in Louisville, La. It is still at the home in Memphis. When I came to Conyers, Mr. Eakes took the same interest in my family that he did in the close relatives of all the other convicts. I was allowed to visit the girls and a large part of the money I earned while under parole has been spent upon them. When I came to Conyers camp I was as low spirited and morose as a convict. Mike says he will mail the ringmen articles immediately, as he wants to have the boys on the battle ground as soon as possible. This will give local fans a chance to see for themselves how good the rival glove-wielders are.

Ever since Kid Williams refused to make 116 pounds for Burns the latter has claimed the title. He was the champion of the world's Professional Tortoise and he will have the belt along with him when he arrives here, according to Saul.

The above are only some of the stars this Burns boy has met. He is the veteran of the bantams, and good one at that.

WITH a revival of the quaint costumes of our mothers' girlhood days, why should we not also revive the custom of New Year's calling, so popular at that time?

Dark green velvet has been used for the first calling costume. The coat slightly gathered onto a shallow yoke is narrow at the shoulders and flaring at the hips, where it is finished with a broad band of sable. A sable collar fastens closely around the neck, and narrow bands of the fur trim the deep, flaring cuffs on the three-quarter-length sleeves, and finish the top of the hem on the very long tunic of the skirt. A big barrel muff of the sable adds a finishing quaintness.

Monkey fur has been used to trim the tan broadcloth suit, and does it most effectively as collar, muff and a finish for the three-quarter-length coat. Both the coat and the long tunic of the skirt have a group of pleats back and front, each side of the centre. A broad black velvet band passes under one pleat of each group, loosely belting the coat at a long waist line.

Black caracul with big collar and deep cuffs of fitch has been used for the attractive coat on the third figure. It is made short in the front, but the cape effect in the back reaches quite to the bottom of the very full, gray broadcloth skirt, itself trimmed with a broad band of the fitch. A chic little "pill box" hat of the caracul and fitch perched at a dangerous angle is worn with it.

DANCING FROCKS for the NEW YEAR'S DEBUTANTE

2—This simple little dance frock of flesh color charmeuse has an overskirt of silver thread lace. The fitted bodice without sleeves is charming on a young girl.

4—This model is a combination of turquoise blue chiffon velvet and silver lace. The velvet overskirt is embroidered in pearls and silver and the bodice is outlined over the shoulder with pearls and turquoises. Roses and forget-me-nots are worn at the waist.

1—Pink and silver changeable chiffon velvet is used in the circular skirt combined with silver cloth and silver embroidery. Flesh color chiffon forms the upper part of the decolletage and short sleeves. This model could also be developed in a very heavy quality satin

3—Gold embroidery net very simply draped over a white satin foundation forms a smart model for a young girl. The decolletage is outlined with a gold embroidered band and a garland of tiny roses defines the long waisted effect.
